Autosport Development's Moxlow Preps for Opener on the Streets of St. Petersburg with a New Look and New Confidence

Grosse Ile, Michigan (14 March 2013)—Last year Moxlow entered the Pirelli World Challenge GTS series halfway through the season due to unforeseen setbacks, but this year Moxlow will pilot the Autosport Development #7 Trenton Forging/Eaton Steel/Huntington Bank Ford Mustang Boss 302s for the entire season, and he can't wait to get started. The Autosport Development team is proud to welcome back Trenton Forging Company, Eaton Steel Bar Company, and the Detroit Motion Co. as sponsors, Steeda Autosports and Bard's Beer as partners, and is excited to announce that Huntington Bank has signed on for the 2013 season as well.

Last week Moxlow and his team spent two days testing at the Homestead-Miami Speedway where he said, "We made incredible improvements and my confidence has definitely increased. I can't wait to hit the street course in St. Pete and to run a full season. It feels good to be back." The competition kicks off March 23rd and 24th with the first two rounds of the series on the Streets of St. Petersburg.

The Mustang Boss 302s, formerly #48, is also kicking off this season with a new number and a new look. Moxlow will now pilot the #7 Mustang, which has been transformed into a canvas to depict the quality product produced by his main sponsor, Trenton Forging Company. To this team, this season is all about an innovative look, new sponsors, renewed confidence, and a fresh start, and they're ready to give it all they've got!
